Contents Summary	M1 Microeconomics Economic Theory: Economic Methods; Optimization; Demand, Supply and Equilibrium; Perfect Competition; Trade; Externalities and Public Goods; Taxation; Labor Market, Monopoly; Game Theory; Oligopoly; Information; Social Economics Doing Economics: Measuring climate change, Collecting and analysing data from experiments, Supply & Demand, Measuring the non-monetary cost of unemployment, Measuring the effect of a sugar tax, Measuring management practices, Measuring willingness to pay for climate change mitigation. M2 Macroeconomics The course represents an introductory economics course that presents the principles of macroeconomics. It gives a general overview over economic key concepts on a scientific basis. The course provides a general overview of the main concepts in intermediate macroeconomics. It aims at enabling students to understand the macroeconomy in in the short, medium and long-run, and how it is affected by policy and shocks. We shall examine the causes and consequences of widely cited economic key variables, such as gross domestic/national product, growth rates, inflation, and so on. In particular, we will analyze the determinants of economic growth and why some nations are so rich whereas others are so poor. Moreover, we will discuss the short-run and long-run effects of different types of economic shocks and policies. The main educational objective is to provide the students with the analytical tools required to analyze current economic problems and policies.

Specific Educational Objectives and Learning Outcomes (additional info.)	This course refers to a basic educational activity and is a mandatory course in the first study year. The main goal of the course is to introduce students to the distinctive structure of economic reasoning and to provide a solid grounding in the basic concepts and methods of microeconomics and macroeconomics. Microeconomics (M1): Students will explore key principles such as supply and demand, market equilibrium, consumer and producer behavior, and the role of incentives in shaping economic outcomes. An additional objective is to equip students with practical skills in analyzing and interpreting economic data. Through lab sessions, students will engage with real-world case studies using the R programming language. This applied component allows students to explore empirical questions, develop data literacy, and strengthen their ability to think critically and quantitatively about economic issues.
Assessment	M1 Microeconomics For attending and non-attending students. Student performance will be evaluated through a final written exam, which accounts for 100% of the final grade. The exam consists of multiple-choice questions: 80% will test knowledge of key microeconomic concepts and the interpretation of data and R code, while the remaining 20% will focus on graphical analysis, requiring students to draw and interpret standard economic graphs. The exam is based on the material covered in the required textbook and the lecture slides provided by the instructor. ILOs assessed: 1-4.

	M2 Macroeconomics: For attending and non-attending students. Student performance will be evaluated through a final written exam, which accounts for 100% of the final grade. The exam consists of multiple-choice questions. The exam is based on the material covered in the required textbook and the lecture slides provided by the instructor. ILOs assessed: (ILO 1.1-1.8, 2.1-2.4, 3.1-3.3, 4.1,4.2)
Evaluation Criteria	Answers will be assessed based on the correctness of both the reasoning process and the final result.
