Obietifs formatifs y competenzes da arjonje	Apprenticeship 5 is characterised by its predominantly practical features of implementing the skills of the future professional teacher who knows how to govern complexity, proposing a didactic-educational model suited to the specific contexts of pre-school and primary schools. It is characterised by a predominantly operational/reflective approach focused on the conscious implementation of the skills of the inclusive teacher in a real situation. The aim is to design, implement and test inclusive training paths in which the levels of competence indicated in the professional profile are implemented. Training objectives of the work placement 5: - independently manage one's own professional skills in both school orders through educational-didactic activities;

	- designing and implementing training paths consistent with the Provincial and National Indications: a) adopting functional and effective methodologies based on active, laboratory, collaborative and inclusive teaching; b) paying attention to the elements of specificity and continuity of the two school orders; - sharing choices and interventions with the tutor, the other teachers and other figures involved; - analysing and self-assessing their own professional skills (relational-communicative, methodological-didactic, inclusive, reflective, assessment, digital and deontological), also taking into account the tutor's feedback; - reflecting on practice in order to make connections with theories in a critical/aware manner; - outlining one's own professional development plan with a view to continuous learning; - using the portfolio as a form of documentation of training and practice and as a place for reflection and self-assessment; - develop a holistic view of teaching that takes into account the person in all his/her aspects, resources and specificities. Knowledge and understanding - of national and provincial institutional regulations - of teacher competence models - of planning models & of observation, analysis and evaluation tools and techniques - of inclusive strategies - of elements of continuity and specificity of the two grades/school orders - of the systemic vision of the school and the profession. Ability to apply knowledge and understanding - application of design models in/for a situational learning pathway, organised and consistent with section/class design - flexible and contextually adapted application of practices and methodologies - application of observation and feedback techniques in the analysis of practice (e.g. audio-video-recording) - implementation of the portfolio with documentation of the course undertaken and updating of the personal and professional

(informazioni supplementares)
Sort de ejam	An oral examination is required, during which the student presents and analyses a significant situation from their internship experience, making reference to the evidence collected in the portfolio. The portfolio is written in Ladin, Italian, and German, ensuring a balanced and equivalent use of the three institutional languages. A positive evaluation of the direct internship is a prerequisite for the discussion of the portfolio during the oral examination. The examination concludes with the assignment of a final grade, which represents a synthesis of the evaluations of the two internship experiences documented in the portfolio and the result of the oral examination.
Criters de valutazion	To obtain a positive assessment of the internship, all of the following components must be successfully completed: - Indirect internship (active participation); - Direct internship (completed internship activities, feedback from the mentor teacher, and observation visit by the internship coordinator); - Portfolio (documentation and reflection); - Oral examination (quality of argumentation and coherence). A final grade is awarded, representing a synthesis of the results achieved in the components described above. In the event of a negative assessment of the entire module, any components that have been successfully completed may be recognised in subsequent examination sessions. In the case of a negative assessment of the module three consecutive times, the student, in accordance with the Examination Regulations, is not permitted to register for this examination in the following three examination sessions (Art. 6, para. 4 of the Regulations governing examinations). To pass the course, students must achieve the intended learning outcomes, comply with the Internship Regulations, and adhere to the principles of intellectual property.

	Assessment Criteria Interest and participation in the learning process (6/30) compliance with the Internship Regulations; level of interest and participation in the learning process; active and responsible participation in the indirect internship. Development of personal and professional competences (10/30) ability to act professionally by applying the competences outlined in the professional profile; pedagogical and educational competence in promoting learning; ability to design and implement educational content and learning activities. Development of communication competences (6/30) clarity in the presentation and elaboration of content, and coherence in argumentation; orthographic and grammatical accuracy in Ladin, Italian, and German. Development of critical thinking (8/30) ability to engage in critical analysis and reflection, and to integrate theory and practice; ability to develop and critically examine the Personal and Professional Development Plan with coherence, awareness, and reference to the experiences undertaken and documented.
