Inhaltsangabe	This seminar, designed to support students in the preparation of their final degree projects, provides advanced training in academic English, with particular emphasis on the specialised language and discourse practices of the design and art sectors. Intended for students with a minimum proficiency level of B2, it aims to further develop writing, reading, critical thinking and oral communication skills within both academic and professional contexts. The course places strong emphasis on the conventions of academic writing, including argumentation, structure, clarity and the appropriate use of sources. Through the analysis of discipline-specific texts and guided writing practice, students will acquire the skills necessary to produce coherent and well-structured academic work.

Themen der Lehrveranstaltung	The final list of topics and text types will depend on the specific needs and requirements of the enrolled students, but the core topics will include: - structure and organisation of a range of academic texts in the discipline - reading and analysing discipline-specific academic texts with attention to rhetorical structure, argumentation and disciplinary conventions - audience, purpose and style; academic vocabulary; formal register; personal and impersonal style - specific academic writing skills, including description, comparison, problem-solution, cause-effect, and process - academic argumentation: developing claims, supporting arguments with evidence and critical discussion - paragraph structure, cohesion and coherence; effective use of linking devices - techniques for paraphrasing and summarising - using sources appropriately: reporting verbs, hedging, in-text citations, reference list - the writing process: planning, drafting, revising, editing and proofreading - discussing academic work in English, including giving constructive peer feedback and participating in academic discourse - Free University of Bozen-Bolzano Guidelines for the ethically-informed use of artificial intelligence tools https://records.unibz.it/regolamenti?prog=1/25&viewdoc=1
