Contents Summary	For effective intervention, social educators must be aware of and sensitive to socio-cultural dynamics. Anthropology is the discipline par excellence that has dealt with questions of culture and has promoted an appreciation of human similarity and diversity. The course will offer students a general introduction to anthropological concepts and research methods, and it will apply these with regard to specific themes of interest in social education.
Course Topics	Anthropological research, Cultural relativism, culture, ethnography, kinship, gender, embodiment, medical systems, belief systems, "race", identity, ethnic and religious diversity; selected topics in social education issues.

Keywords	anthropology, ethnography, social research
Recommended Prerequisites	none
Propaedeutic Courses
Teaching Format	Through the use of TEAMS and the OLE platforms: lectures, discussions, group work, research exercise, active audiovisual viewing.
Mandatory Attendance	In accordance with the regulation
Specific Educational Objectives and Learning Outcomes	Type of course: "di base". The course aims to integrate anthropological perspectives and research tools into the professional practice of social education. Students will develop new awareness through critical and cross-cultural reflection on concepts such as person, family, group/collectivity, multicultural society, gender, exchange (reciprocity) and questions of power. They will apply these concepts and anthropological research approaches to selected topics in social education, and they will conduct a small fieldwork exercise. Additionally, the course will encourage students to critically engage scientific texts and enhance their academic research and writing skills. Knowledge and understanding <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Knowledge of basic concepts in the anthropological study of culture. • Knowledge of basic anthropological research methods. • Acquisition of appropriate scientific languages for the description and analysis of social-cultural phenomena. Applying knowledge and understanding <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ability to apply anthropological approaches and concepts to the analysis of concrete social education contexts. • Ability to apply anthropological approaches and concepts in engaging scientific and cultural products. • Ability to apply anthropological methods to the exploration and investigation of empirical social education contexts. Making judgements <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Development of critical and independent thinking regarding
